To Everyone

In Mark 16:15, God has given us a gospel commission - "go into all the world and preach the gospel to every creature" - that we must follow. Here at Laurelbrook we believe that everyone, especially the young people, have been called to carry on and finish God's work. The students this year came from all over the world, from different backgrounds, cultures, and areas. Our goal this year was to be like a fire that wouldn't stop until the entire world had felt the touch of the flame. This is why we went FROM EVERYWHERE TO EVERYONE.

Dedication

This year we would like to dedicate the annual to someone who has been a help and encouragement to everyone on this campus. She has taught many people how to clean and sew, understand algebra, and work in the office. She has demonstrated to us that everything we do should be perfect and that we should not settle for anything less. Her humor has brought a sense of happiness to many. We appreciate the way she takes things that look like they have no hope and makes something beautiful out of them. Through all the $5 fines and the times we get sent back from school to change our clothes, we have all grown to love and cherish her. So, for all the ways in which you have helped us to grow into better ladies and gentlemen, for all the love that you show to us, and for always being willing to help us whenever we need you, we would like to dedicate this yearbook to you -

Ms. Camelia Podosu.

Pastor's Message

Thank you so much for the thought "From Everyone to Everywhere". My mind went first to 1 Corinthians 12:12 "... all the members of that one body, being many, are one body: so also [is] Christ." "Everyone" tells me that we do not want anyone left out and that we need each other to finish the work.

We ask the question - how can this be done? My favorite quote to help answer this is from the article "Genuine Conversion" by Ellen G. White in reference to the parable of the leaven. The leaven of truth works secretly, silently, steadily, to transform the soul. The natural inclinations are softened and subdued. New thoughts, new feelings, new motives are implanted. A new standard of character is set up - the life of Christ. The mind is changed; the faculties are aroused to action in new lines. Man is not endowed with new faculties, but the faculties he has are sanctified. The conscience is awakened (Review and Herald, July 7, 190, par. 9). By allowing Him to change us, we then are one in Him. Then this group of "everyone" will be able to reach out to "everywhere".

There are many quotes to show us how this work is to be done. We are to be witnesses for Christ, reflecting upon others the light which the Lord permits to shine upon us. We are to be as faithful soldiers marching under the bloodstained banner of Prince Emmanuel. There is to be no indifference, no stupidity among the followers of Christ; for they are to reflect Christ to the world, to serve God with the whole heart, to be watching, waiting, and praying, and not to be ignorant of Satan's devices. The Captain of Our Salvation knows the plan of the battle, and we shall come off more than conquerors through Him. (Signs of the Times, April 4, 1892, par. 4). This is the time when the many parts of the body come together to reflect Him. One day soon we will have the privilege to reveal Jesus to Everyone, Everywhere and finally to the entire universe.

Larry Owens, Pastor

President's Message

As Jesus sent His disciples out, He commissioned them to "preach in Jerusalem, Judea and then to the uttermost parts of the world." When He chose His disciples, He chose them from many different cultures. He chose a tax collector, fishermen, a business man, farmers, and others. The point was that it didn't matter what culture or background they came from. He wanted to teach them all about His Father, His love and His glory. And this Jesus did for three and one half years. After receiving the Holy Spirit at Pentecost, it is said that these same disciples went out and "turned the world upside down" for Jesus.

Young people, Jesus has called you from many different backgrounds and cultures to come to Laurelbrook. Why? To learn more about God, His love and His glory. Most of you will spend three to four years learning how to put these marvelous principles to practical use as did the disciples. The theme of the yearbook - "From Everywhere to Everyone" - seems very appropriate as you have come from all over the world. I invite you to make complete your theme by taking the principles you have learned and go out to "everyone" and may it be said of you that you "turned the world upside down" for Jesus.

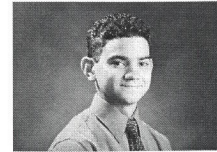

Time is short and the signs all foretell that Jesus is soon to come, and with what "an army of youth, rightly trained," might accomplish, that time could be sooner than we think. This year has been a good year, and we have had many good times and experiences together. I have enjoyed getting to know each of you as we have played together, worked together, helped with Bible Conferences, retreats, and evangelistic meetings, banquets, class parties, etc. My prayer for each of you is that as you leave Laurelbrook, that you will not forget these experiences and the lessons learned and that you will make a commitment to meet me in the Afterglow.

Chuck Hess, President

What Laurelbrook Means To Me

Nain

Laurelbrook has meant a lot to me. My thoughts can not express it, neither can my words. If it was not for Laurelbrook, I wouldn't know what I want to do for my profession. The staff and teachers who hold high moral principles have trained me for some position of trust in God's work.

--Eliager Moro

Elizaer

Laurelbrook to me has been a home away from home. It has taught me values and lessons that I couldn't have learned anywhere else. Laurelbrook is definitely a place to make life-long friends.

--Crystal Graves

Crystal

I want to thank God for the opportunity of coming here, where I got to know many people and friends. Laurelbrook has helped me to grow spiritually and has changed my point of view thorough work and school.

--Paola Villaba

Paola

At Laurelbrook I have learned to work with my hands. Mr. Wendel has taught me to build and work efficiently.

--Ian Neal

Laurelbrook to me is a place I love, a place where friends and loving staff come to together to make one big family though work and school. This family is led by God. I thank Him for choosing me to go to Laurelbrook to learn to love God more.

--Adele Lewis

Sharon Adams

Adele

Laurelbrook to me is a home where my heart is, a family who will stand by you through thick and thin. It is a place of learning in all aspects of life; social, educational, and spiritual. It is a place where the presence of God is felt thus helping you grow spiritually, and you are surrounded by the beauty of nature reminding us of the Creator.

Campus Improvements

The Laurelbrook Fire Department was able to purchase a replacement for their aging tanker.

Early this summer Mr. Wendel and his crew replaced the roof on the firehouse.

The girls in the dorm are very thankful for the new roof installed over the second half of the summer by Mr. Wendel, Nain, Nathan, Matthew, Jonathan, Russell, and Ian.

The new waste water treatment plant building-project was begun July 16th and completed in January of 2004. It was built by Mr. Ferguson, Mr. Glen, Mr. Wendel, and Mr. Mike, assisted by Reid, Nathan, Barry, Matthew, Ben, and many other students. It is a great improvement over what was used before.

Spiritual emphasis is an important item on the Laurelbrook agenda. Students are taught that God should be the center of their lives and learn this partly with daily worships, church services, special spiritual events, and mission trips.

Spiritual Emphasis

John 4:24 "God is a Spirit, and they that worship Him must worship Him in spirit and in truth."

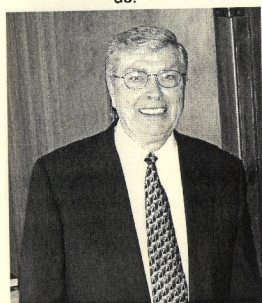

Darwin Whitman shared his insights on the sanctuary with us.

Laurelbrook's president Chuck Hess makes a point at the Bible Conference.

The spiritual emphasis at Laurelbrook focuses on God's wonderful creative works and the salvation He offers each of us. We did this many different ways this year: a Bible conference, a spiritual retreat, different speakers, and other spiritual-based activities. Students and staff alike enjoy doing activities based on God and his salvation with each other or with other schools.

Pastor Coulter has shared with us his visions of God's work.

Debbie Young, ASI president, challenged everyone to accept and use God's gifts.

Our Bible Conference speaker and student delegates rest at the Point.

The Bible Conference choir has special music for church.

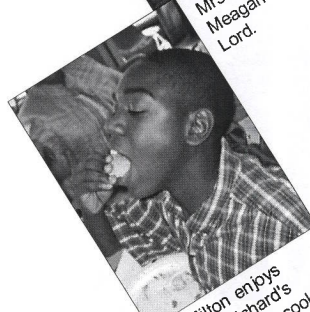

Mr. Corrigan speaks at Fall Creek Falls Spiritual Retreat.

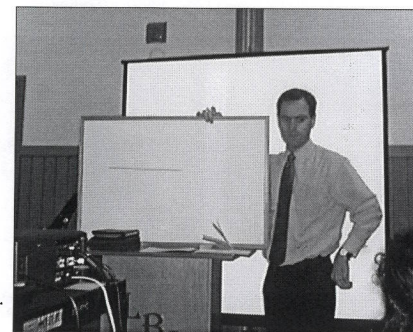

Students enjoy fellowship during lunch break

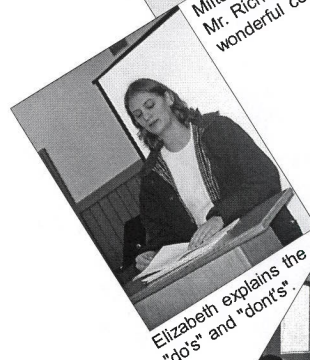

Mrs. Rowana and Meagan sing to the Lord.

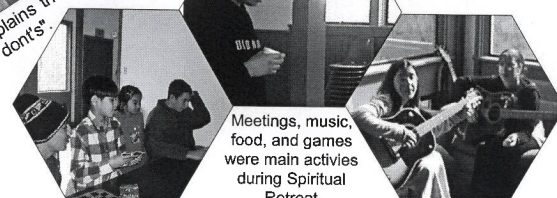

Milton enjoys Mr. Richard's wonderful cooking.

Mr. Baird Corrigan introduced his theme "Live to Give".

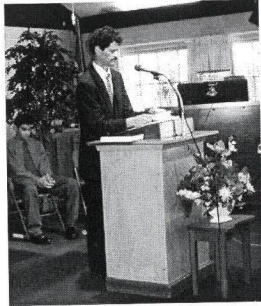

Elizabeth explains the "do's" and "don't's".

Meetings, music, food, and games were main activities during Spiritual Retreat

Local Church

Mr. Clifton lets the Lord lead him in his Sabbath sermon.

The church is the main place where Laurelbrook comes to worship our God and Maker. We have church services for staff, students, and neighbors near and far. Every time we meet, the students are involved in Sabbath school, church, and other meetings.

"And it shall come to pass, that from one new moon to another, and from one Sabbath to another, shall all flesh come to worship before me, saith the LORD."
Isaiah 66:23 KJV

Gabriel reads a mission story in Sabbath School about Seventh-day Adventists in France.

Jonathan helps organize the offering during the church service.

Nicky works on a Sabbath School project with his teacher Becky Herra.

Pastor Larry Owens emphasizes a point about Elijah.

Joe Pulley teaches a student Sabbath School lesson in the overflow room in the church.

The wonderful Laurelbrook boys' dorm has special music.

Evangelistic Meetings - Pikeville

This is the second series of meetings conducted by Laurelbrook students in recent years. This year the students were organized by Pastor Wayne Coulter (retired president of the Illinois Conference), Principal Wanda Sarr, and Pastor Paul Eirich, the pastor of the Pikeville Seventh-day Adventist Church. Meetings in the old high school building began on April 9 and ran through May 1.

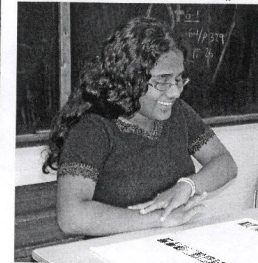

As part of their Bible classes, students carefully practiced their sermons and health talks before the series started. They gained a valuable education in public speaking while at the same time working for the Lord.

The meetings were held in the old central high school building in Pikeville.

Jenifer practices her speech in a spare classroom.

Amanda rehearses her evangelistic presentation during her Bible class.

Bradley memorizes his sermon.

"Go ye therefore, and teach all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost: Teaching them to observe all things whatsoever I have commanded you: and, lo, I am with you alway, [even] unto the end of the world. Amen."
Matthew 28:19-20 KJV

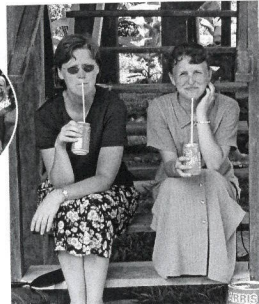

Pastor Eirich invites the people to come in.

EASEA Mission Trip

All the Kimbia Mission Academy students, where the mission trip went, pose for the camera.

Maudie and Kristi enjoy a drink in the shade.

The students who were sent from Laurelbrook (left) were all juniors - Jenifer Samuel, Kristi Brandt, Matthew Thornton, and Nathan Carroll.

The trip to Guyana was awesome. The people there are very nice. They seem to be happy even when they have so little. It's pretty cool to see how happy they are with the little things they have. Their church services show the joy they have in Jesus. It is lively and powerful and made me think of the church in the disciples' time, a family of Christians.

Matthew enjoys the local method of transportation.

The boys' dorm was more than halfway finished when we left.

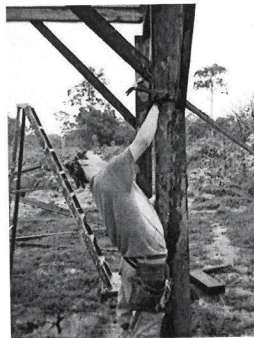

Our project was the boys' dorm at KMA. All the boys and occasionally some of the girls worked on this building's construction throughout their three-week stay at Kimbia. It was rewarding to watch the building go up as well as the experience of working together to achieve a goal. I'm glad, and I am sure that all those with me are too, that we got this chance to go out and work for God. It was inspiring.

Go ye therefore, and teach all nations...

Girls' Dorm Life

Crystal stares out of the window, thinking of her future.

There is usually never a dull moment in the girls' dorm. There is fun, friendship, and, of course, lots of playing around.

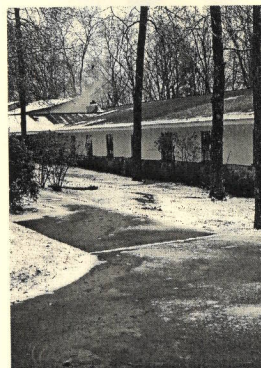

We got you, Shenandoah.

During the summer, after a eight-hours of vocational training, Brenda deserves a rest.

The girls enjoy a break by playing jump rope.

This winter the girls' dorm is dressed in white.

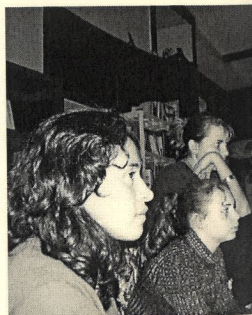

"O give thanks unto the LORD, for [he is] good: for his mercy [endureth] for ever."
Psalms 107:1 KJV

My life has been blessed and forever changed here in the Laurelbrook Ladies Dorm. The good Lord has brought each one of you to touch my heart in ways beyond comprehension. I truly cherish each relationship I have with you. May the friendships, lessons, trials, and victories lead us all one step closer to our loving Saviour, Jesus Christ. This is my prayer.

*I love you all!
Your Deam
Ms. Rowena*

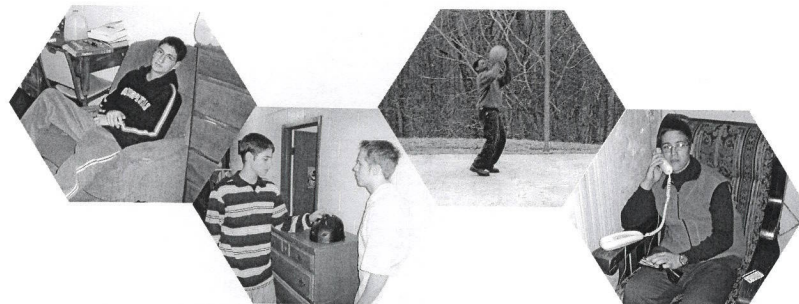

Alicia practices her piano skills in the worship room.

The girls listen in worship.

Boys' Dorm

Whether it is discussing things together, playing games, or just hanging out, the boys' dorm is a great place to be. It is a home away-from-home for these twenty-one young men.

The boys sing with enthusiasm at worship.

Jose takes time in the morning to put in his contacts.

The boys gather in the lobby after lunch for a little fun and some serious talk.

Shane works on the higher details of a snowman under construction.

Michael and Anthony look intently at a computer screen.

In Common

These are four out of our five sets of twins on campus - Kari and Kara Jeske, Andrew and David Lounsberry, Brenda and Paola Villalba, and Jennifer and Anna Carr.

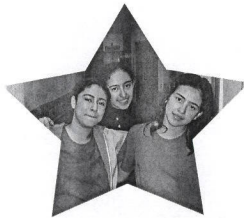

Four of the six 2004 seniors were four-year seniors - Shenandoah, Crystal, Ely, Alicia.

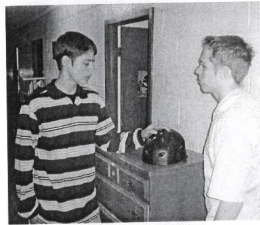

Amanda and Milton are the shortest students, Honiko and Matthew the tallest.

Brothers Joe and Bradley enjoy each other's company.

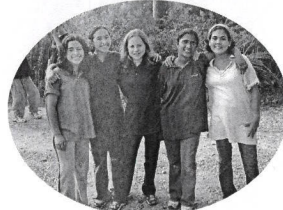

Joey takes quality time with his sister Amanda.

Ashley is happy her younger brother Ben came to Laurelbrook this year.

Paola, Brenda, Amanda, Jenifer, and Jessica are proud to be short.

Picnics

Cara waves as the group crosses the swinging bridge at Fall Creek Falls.

Mrs. Debbie blows on the fire that warms the beans for lunch at Falls Creek Falls.

Amanda holds on for dear life as Deidre races to their destination at the 4th of July picnic.

This is Falls Creek Falls, the object of a hike on both the spring and fall picnics.

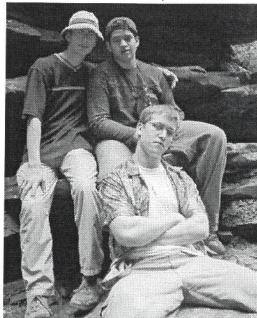

Pastor Owens has worship with the group after the activities at Falls Creek Falls.

Each year the staff and students come together at places like Fall Creek Falls or the Laurelbrook Circle or a field near the Lodge to get together and have fun celebrating events such as the 4th of July or just to have a picnic and fun. Usually there are food and games with the day ending with a short worship.

But if we have food and a roof over us, let that be enough.

Jose, Jonathan, and Rueben rest on the Falls Creek Falls canyon hike.

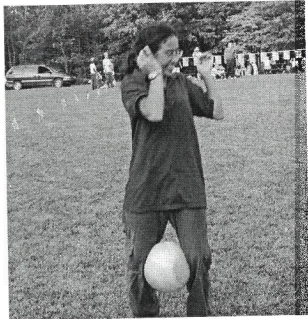

Mr. and Mrs. Bailey cut the watermelon for the students at the 4th of July picnic.

Kristi really seems to be getting into the basketball game at Falls Creek Falls.

Social Activities

Brenda pauses to take some advice during the Fourth of July ball relay.

Even though we're really busy with school work and vocational training, we still have time to have fun. Our fun includes class parties, picnics, hikes, games, and an occasional banquet.

Nain, Jenifer, Reid, and Adrien have an interesting discussion on a Sabbath hike.

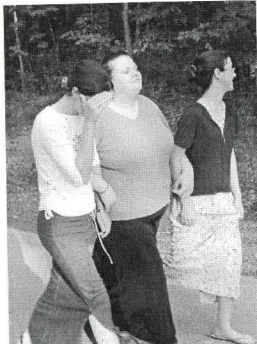

Alicia tries to explain to Eli how the bandana keeps his head cool.

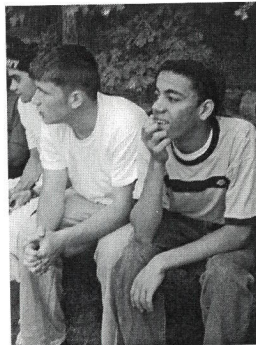

Adrien's attempt to fly during 4th of July was quite successful until he realized that gravity will win.

"Hey, I'm taking this picture!" Shenendoah catches the photographer at the 4th of July picnic.

Crystal escorts the Carr twins on a Sabbath hike.

How Did We Produce This Yearbook?

Our yearbook production this year (2004) began with the decision to publish the yearbook on our own with a special type of cover manufactured for us. Our yearbook costs were mounting and doing it ourselves seemed to be a good way to finally balance yearbook income with yearbook expenses. We saved money this first year but did not quite balance income with expenses due to equipment.

To begin with, a list of all pages together with the subject of each page (the ladder diagram) was prepared in the spring of 2003 by the outgoing yearbook staff. Before the ladder diagram was finalized, Chuck Hess (the institution's president) and Wanda Sarr (academy principal) were invited to give their comments on the proposed list.

In June, we had a computer custom-built by NCITE, a firm in Dayton, Tennessee. Specifications included a 2.4 gigahertz processor, 512 Meg of RAM, a DVD drive, a CD-RW drive, a 17-inch monitor, a Zip drive, a 3.5 floppy drive, and several USB ports. Windows 2000, Adobe Pagemaker 6.5, and Adobe Photoshop 5.5 along with several other programs were loaded onto the computer. A Hewlett-Packard 2300 Laserjet printer was also ordered from the same firm.

During the summer months, ten pages with their accompanying pictures were prepared. As each page was begun, a folder was created for that page. Pictures and the Pagemaker file were placed in this folder. Except for the dedication pages, all folders were initially kept on a special section of the school's computer system and later copied to a special section of the new computer for final checking and printing. During this final checking, the pictures were converted from color to black and white, links were checked, and the page proofread at least two to three times by various staff and student personnel (mistakes did occur). A test page was printed for each file and placed in a "page ready" folder.

As the school year began, the list of staff members was finalized and trained as needed. The class was scheduled to meet once a week for about 1 1/2 hours on Monday evening after worship. Except for emergencies, this was basically all the time that was needed (photographers worked outside the class period to take pictures). The staff list was limited to ten.

The first 9-weeks of the year, the staff did about 35 pages, the second 9-weeks about 33 pages. The rest of the pages were finished by April. During this time, the cover was designed by a senior staff member. In January, the covers were ordered from ChannelBind (www.channelbind.com), a Xerox company specializing in a metal channel binding system that holds as well as a regular sewn cover (see the photo to the left). Cost per cover when 125 were ordered came to $7.50 each.

Meanwhile the staff, sponsors, and Chuck Hess settled on the type of paper to use. 28-lb.(98 brightness) paper was ordered. A contrasting 28-lb. cream-colored paper was purchased from a Chattanooga paper company. This particular decision was to be one of our biggest headaches. The regular white paper was rated for "toner-based processes" but not specifically for laser printers.

Production began with 125 copies of each finished page. Collating was done as work proceeded, initially by the sponsor and later on by the staff members. Initially, there were problems with toner marks on the back of the first side after the second side was run if a sheet of ordinary 20-lb office paper was not run in between each of the page runs. After the work was three-fourths done and a page with a very heavy background was run, toner marks started appearing during the page runs themselves. After NCITE technicians had cleaned the printer once or twice and Hewlett-Packard was consulted about four times, it was determined that an HP Laserjet 24-lb. paper specifically manufactured for two-sided printing would have to be used.

The final pages were run in March and early April, and the binding began. The binding machine from ChannelBind had been purchased in November at a cost of $1299. Binding was relatively easy once the process was mastered, and books that had a problem could be unbound and rebound up to three times. Naturally, rebinding was done as little as possible.

In May, the yearbook was presented to the school, and Camelia (the person it was dedicated to) enjoyed the presentation immensely. By then, the whole process had begun again for the 2005 yearbook with a ladder diagram being drawn up and approved and staff members training on Pagemaker, Photoshop, and the yearbook digital camera.

The pages were fitted in these channels and bound as shown to the right.

Life is a journey through time.

How much of it
do you share with God?

Alumni Reunion 2004

Elizabeth and Jose get ready for their Alumni Weekend mission report.

Mrs. Debbie Hess (not shown) talks about the different types of cereal and how each represents Christians at Sabbath vespers. This group helped her illustrate her talk.

At the last meeting of the Alumni Reunion 2004, those present joined hands and sang "We Are Nearing Home".

And so, on the last page of this yearbook, the alumni are reaching out to everyone as part of their life work on this earth. From everyone to everywhere is the goal of a Christian.
