Today Is Tomorrow's Yesterday!

A lot of students have come to Laurelbrook and have no idea why they are here. Lots of people go around and wonder what their purpose is in life. When students start academy, they are at a point in time when they are asking themselves all sorts of questions.

Sometimes our days begin to blur, and we don't seem to remember who we are and what we're doing. When we start to lose focus, we need to call on Jesus to help get us back on track and refocused. Sometimes the best way is to give us something easy that looks hard so in the end we realize we should have just asked Him in the first place.

Dedication

This yearbook is dedicated to a couple who have greatly contributed to Laurelbrook School. They have many times put in more than their eight-hour day to fill a need. They are dedicated to teaching and directing students in the way they should go. Without them, the nursing home and academy wouldn't be the same. They have spent six selfless years at Laurelbrook, serving God in their own unique ways.

The husband spent his first few years here teaching in the elementary school. He was firm on pushing the students to do their best and teaching them all about self-control and patience. In the more recent part of his service here, he has moved on to teaching academy students. He does a very good job in what he does.

4 Dedication

Dedication

The wife has always been an asset to the Laurelbrook Nursing Home. At first she just did C.N.A. work in the halls, and then she started working in baths as well. Now she does baths and scheduling. When a C.N.A. doesn't show up (night or day), she gets a phone call. She has come to the nursing home many times in the middle of the night to resolve staffing problems and even to fill in on the spot. She deserves commendation for the excellent job she does every day trying to make everything work together.

We want to thank these two people for all they have done for us here at Laurelbrook. This year's yearbook is dedicated to both of you - Eugene and Remy Avila.

Campus Views

This is our nice little campus church.

This is one of the many streams running through the Canyon (deep valley near the school).

The boys' dorm rests in a clear, soft coating of snow.

The gazebo sits in the circle area in front of the dorms.

The Point gives you a view of the mountains.

The McKee Center Building is the location for home ec classes, special dinners, banquets, and meetings.

Occasionally you see a ghostly glimpse of deer on campus.

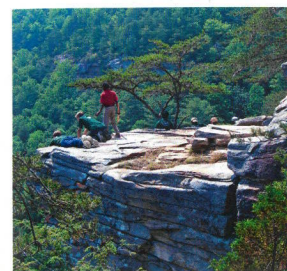

The Laurelbrook Lake offers beauty and swimming.

The cafeteria building, which houses the cafeteria and main institutional offices, is under a blanket of snow.

Campus Views

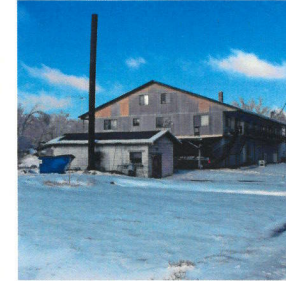

Students look off the side of The Point.

Many hikes are taken here to the falls.

"For since the creation of the world God's invisible qualities--his eternal power and divine nature--have been clearly seen, being understood from what has been made, so that men are without excuse."

Romans 1:20

The Laurelbrook Elementary School is on the lower floor of this building.

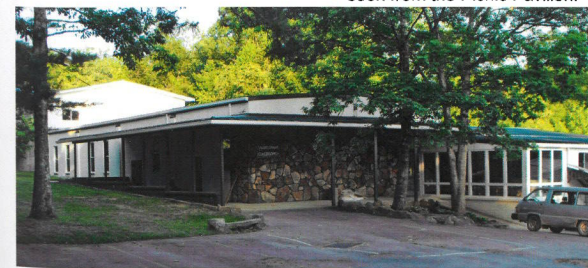

This is the girls' dorm in a snow setting.

This is the Tennessee Valley as seen from the Picnic Pavilion.

In the spring at the lake, flowers bloom.

The academy students have classes on the upper floor of this building. It also houses the school auditorium and various offices and storerooms.

Part of the original entrance gate is located near the nursing home.

Pastor's Message

What if you could travel in time to somewhere in your past? What would you change? The unfortunate thing about the past is that it's just that - past. We can never redeem the moments of yesterday.

But, there is good news. Today is tomorrow's yesterday! Today is the day when we can decide to follow God's will for our lives. The Bible says, "Today if ye will hear His voice harden not your hearts." God is a God who can see the past and the future, yet He calls Himself "I AM". Not I Was or I Will Be - He is a present help today.

No matter what we've done, no matter where we've been, the God of Today is offering each of us a chance to change tomorrow's yesterday. He offers us the pen of choice with which we will right our story of tomorrow. What will your story be? Will it be full of self and selfish ambitions? Or will we choose to allow God's grace to fill our hearts and reach out to hurting humanity?

God knows what He wants us to write on the blank page of our future... "For I know the thoughts that I think toward you saith the Lord, thoughts of peace and not evil to give you an expected end" Jeremiah 29:11.

Won't you let God be the One to write the story of your life as you decide in the next few years some of the most important decisions you'll ever make? Will you let Him choose your career? Write your love story? Most importantly, will you let Him woo your heart and write the story of His love on your heart? He says, "My son (daughter) give me thine heart, I will satisfy its longings with true happiness."

In loving service,
David Wendt
Laurelbrook Pastor

President's Message

"Remember when ..." I hear that phrase all the time. Many times when alumni return to Laurelbrook, they reflect on the experiences they had when they were in school here. The experiences of yesterday seem to have sweetened as the years passed by. Memories have a way of doing that, you know.

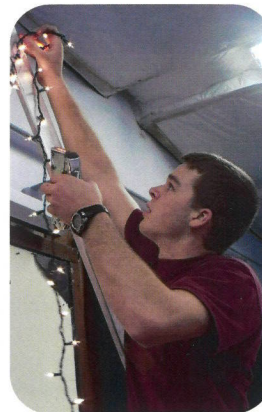

I certainly remember the time that I spent as a student here at Laurelbrook. Like every class, as seniors, we spent our time counting the hours until graduation. We dreamed of tomorrow and the great things we would accomplish as soon as we left. But then that great day came when we cried and we hugged and said our good-byes. Now, twenty-five years later, I'd give about anything to spend five minutes back there one more time with those kids whom I shared so much with.

It's hard to imagine, but as you read through this annual, you are experiencing some of the best times in your life. The experiences you are having today, you will cherish later. The friends you make right now will be people who you will always regard as close. The things you are learning today will determine what type of person you will be forever. And the memories you are making right now will be the "Remember when..." that you will talk about for the rest of your life.

Yesterday is gone. God hasn't promised us tomorrow. But He has given us the opportunity to experience today with all its wonder. Soak in as much of it as you can. Trust me, in twenty-five years you will give anything just to spend five more minutes back in academy. Because for us right now, today is tomorrow's yesterday.

Sincerely yours,
Ram Orentenko
Laurelbrook President

Today is Tomorrow's Yesterday.

What Laurelbrook Means to Me

During the four years that I've been here, my friends and spiritual growth have been the most important things to me. When I leave, I'm going to be sad, but I know I can always come back because Laurelbrook is like a second home to me.

David Foreman, Senior

Laurelbrook has taught me leadership and respect for others. Things here are not always perfect and can be difficult at times, but I've found a quote that has helped me throughout my three years here at Laurelbrook Academy - "Someday everything will all make sense." So for now, laugh at the confusion, smile through the tears, and keep reminding yourself that everything happens for a reason.

Katelyn Carr, Junior

Laurelbrook has been a blessing to me. The staff and students are concerned and pray for each other. It's just a great place to gain new friends who encourage you in your Christian walk.

Erin Simmons, Sophomore

To me, Laurelbrook is like a refuge from all the chaos in the world. There are ups and downs in all places, including LBA, but the difference here is that there is a whole institution filled with people that can and will help you through it all.

Maureen Esayra, Freshman

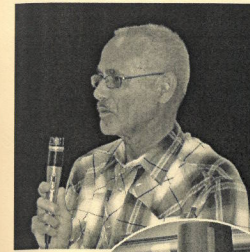

Laurelbrook has a great well-rounded program for both students and staff members. If they will take the time and energy to become acquainted with it. It is true that there have been times when the human beings running the program have not made it all that God wants it to be, but the balance of mental, physical and spiritual activities is still God's best prescription for what ails the human race.

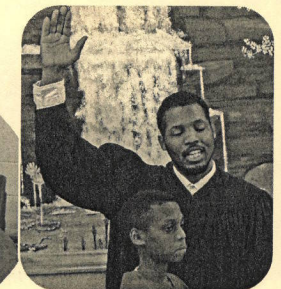

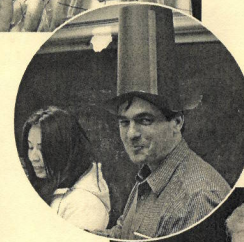

James Brennenan, History and English teacher

Today is Tomorrow's Yesterday.

"He who is slow in his work becomes poor, but the hand of the ready worker gets in wealth."
Prov. 10:4 BBE

Here at Laurelbrook the staff play a big part in our mental, vocational, social, and spiritual growth and help us realize that each day is fleeting. Before we know it, tomorrow is here.

Chuckie:

We thank you for all your hard work on the yearbook
this year and wish you well in your future.

Mr. B and the yearbook staff

Dear Chuck,

You have been a ray of sunshine, a burst of energy, and a barrel of fun since you were born on that Friday night. You have been a friend as well as a son.

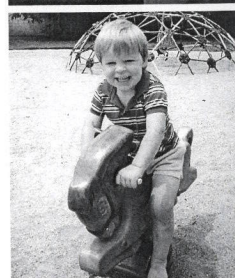

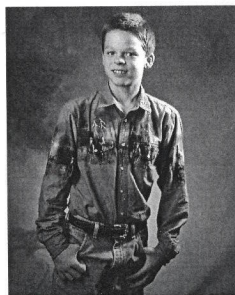

As life takes unexpected turns and disturbing detours, we hope and pray each day that you will remember that you have a constant Companion and Guide who loves you and will always stay by your side. He promises, He will never leave you or forsake you and will guide you with His eye. We hope you always sense His hand on you. Josh.1:5, Ps.32:8, Ps.139:5

Hold tight, so tight to Him and He will hold you with a hand that will never let go. MH 182

We love you so much, Son, and we are so proud to be your parents. Come home often, for we will be lonely for you.

Lots and lots of love,

Dad and Mom

As each of us advances, this year forms part of our past.
